

My holiday to France

In 2005, I went to France with my uncles, Danny and Joe. We went in Danny's blue van. We slept in the back on blow up beds.

We drove from Birmingham to Dover and got the ferry to France. It took us two hours to get there. When we got to France, we stopped at a café and had some mussels. They were really nice.

The next morning, we drove into a small town. There were carousels with horses. They were gold and white and they were lovely. We drove on for two days and then we got to Paris. It was very busy with lots of mopeds and cars. We got the metro to Notre Dame Cathedral. There was a very big queue but we could hear the choir singing while we were waiting. The cathedral was beautiful inside. It was the best holiday I ever had.

Memorable Moments

Eiffel Tower was really big!

Walking into a billboard

People on roller skates

Chefs laughing because I don't like any cheese on my pizza

Stephen, PALS